Triple i maintains International Standards accreditation

Wollongong, NSW – Triple i is pleased to announce the successful renewal of our ISO accreditation certificates during a recent external Audit. The certifications cover two main standards including ISO9001:2015 Quality Management Certification, and ISO 45001:2018 Occupational Health and Safety Certification.

Our recertification of ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 45001:2018 are a testament to our commitment to quality and growth, highlighting our effective management system in supporting agility and resilience during the previous twelve months.

Overseen by the International Organisation for Standardisation, ISO 9001:2015 is based on quality management principles including a strong customer focus, the motivation and implication of top management, the process approach and continual improvement.

ISO 45001:2018 specifies requirements for an occupational health and safety (OH&S) management system, issued to protect employees and visitors from work-related accidents or incidences, mitigating any factors that can cause employees and businesses irreparable harm.

The ISO accreditation certificates are valid for three years, with annual monitoring and triennial recertification undertaken to comprehensively review procedures for order tracking, supplier quality management, customer satisfaction, technical compliance, health and safety procedures and other key assessment criteria.

Triple i will continue to ensure that our processes and systems meet the highest standards with focus on health and safety for all stakeholders, upholding functional and operational integrity and ensuring a customer-centric approach based on delivery and outcomes.

With a strategy for sustainability, we are persistently seeking new ways to improve and build-upon our foundations to ensure long-term success not only for us but our industry partners.
